

The purpose of each contest is to encourage Franklin County girls and give each one an opportunity to join the ranks of past Fair Queens, Princesses, and Little Misses. These girls promote Franklin County's hometown fair and top industry - agriculture. Participation in a royalty contest develops leadership, increased confidence, public speaking, and interaction with the community. Fair week is spent handing out ribbons, judging contests, meeting and greeting fair goers, and promoting. The rest of the year is filled with festivals, parades, banquets, and more. We hope this experience is enjoyable and educational for all our contestants!
